The UP370 motion detector family was first launched by the business more than 20 years ago. In June 2014, a company decision was taken to move the UP370 motion detector range into maintenance mode. The product design was frozen and no further development took place. The company committed to supplying the UP370 range as long as was feasible. Critical product components, that were purchased on LTB options a number of years ago, have now reached EOL, thus forcing an EOL announcement on the UP370 family of products.
