The DALM 3000 and DALM 5000 alarm transmitters for the Omnis system have been updated to include the cable used for connecting them to the E100, rather than the cable for the E1.

The stock has been updated which means that all units bought from this date onward will have the cable for the E100 delivered with the product.

This also means that the cable as it's own entity, N54513-F113-A100 Alarm transmitter cable, will be discontinued with immediate effect.
